

Quilvest Capital Partners appoints Daniel Toledano as Global Head of Sustainability

27 February 2025 – Quilvest Capital Partners (“Quilvest”), a dedicated global mid and lower mid-market alternatives investment manager with over $7bn in AUM and a century-long, seven-generation family shareholder heritage, today announces the appointment of Daniel Toledano as Global Head of Sustainability, a role he has been effectively assuming since H2 2024.

Based in Paris, Daniel will lead Quilvest’s sustainability efforts, working closely with the investment teams to define the sustainability strategy of the firm and drive value creation across its portfolio.

Daniel joined Quilvest in 2019 as Head of Strategic Marketing and has been focused on Sustainability topics since 2021. He brings significant experience as an operating partner focusing on sustainability topics. Before joining Quilvest, Daniel spent several years as a management consultant at Boston Consulting Group in Paris.

Quilvest’s sustainability strategy takes a holistic approach, integrating all aspects of the ESG framework across its investments. For portfolio where Quilvest holds a greater degree of control, the firm also places a particular focus on two key areas: tackling climate change and fostering equal opportunities. Quilvest integrates sustainability at every stage of the investment process, from pre-investment to exit. This includes negative screening, sustainability-based management packages for its Buyout strategy, active management and reviews with the portfolio companies. The firm’s rigorous framework ensures sustainability considerations are central to decision-making and value creation.

Commenting on the appointment, Alexis Meffre, CEO at Quilvest Capital Partners, said: “Sustainability has always been central to our firm, deeply rooted in our historical family shareholding structure and DNA. It remains a core pillar of our investment approach, not just a responsibility but a driver of long-term value creation. Daniel’s leadership and expertise in these topics will be instrumental in further embedding these principles into our strategy, ensuring we create lasting impact across our portfolio.”
